on Creating the Soundest Economy and Economic Development*

Sahome on Fiscal Responsibility

The world economy may be approaching a fiscal cliff. The housing bubble, in developed countries, has robbed banks of liquidity and threatens insolvency. The universality of prudence is critical and becomes each of our job. We take on collective responsibility for collective risk, be it from exposure to debt, extravagance and living beyond one's means, or expansion that can't be justified by economic good sense. We, all, are called upon to honor trust. Economic specialists act upon routine, transparency, proper oversight, checks and balances, tried and true protocols, policies and procedures that safeguard capitol formation. Similar application of secure fiscal caution and wise propriety will help all of us to flourish. We want enterprises to succeed in meeting need. We want exploration, innovation and evaluation to be done with sensible scrutiny. This takes moral imagination exhibited by all involved. This should include some independent input beyond the inner circle. Contextual factors such as timing, right sizing and collective talent make delightful outcomes arise out of preparation, balance and quickness. With cooperation, teamwork, coordination and mutuality, the job of business is to serve the communities best interests. We want business to live up to the high standard of efficacy, transparency, solvency, and profitability that builds a spirit of victory. Effectiveness is about transposing the effort of the one and leveraging it, by interfacing with others, towards the delight and benefit of the many.

Sahome on Earning One's Keep

We are responsible for our own upkeep. As we apply our creativity, initiative, ambition, work ethic, and enterprise we can cover out overhead, meet our expenses, and prosper our circumstances. This requires a robust three-dimensional approach: First: We mirror back, through out behavior towards others, what we believe in and what we can offer to others practically. Second: We are wired to cope with the real world as we find it. Yet we can aspire to reshape it to be the beautiful expression of our hopes and dreams and aspirations. Third: What constitutes the basics for achievement are good health habits, a strong work ethic, strong values and virtues, that forge trustworthy relationships and show adoration for usefulness and resourcefulness. As we grow into these three dimensions of human seasoning we take the strides forward and thereby we can achieve our hearts desire, our well being and our self sufficiency. We are not just tagalongs in the fracas of life but we are prime movers, working in tandem, with the enterprise of others, to use our individuality to mold others adequacy to enjoy the benefits of synergy. We leverage one another's skills and aptitude, as co-constituents to progress, benefitting from what each has to contribute. As we bask in originality, surpassing what uniformity cannot provide, we benefit from what innovation, ingenuity, and collaboration can provide. In a trans media multi-platform learning and business environment, it is the requirement to measure up to a worldwide knowledge based economy. We need to help trapped youth, bogged down by poverty of means or low self expectation, to be championed by worthy mentors and educators to build self belief and proficiency. We need to amplify and increase the efforts of government and the private sector to compliment, build and reinforce the agility of human character to become useful productive workers, to make society better long term.

Sahome on Better Business

What does doing better business mean? It means marrying functionality to beauty, appeal to practicality; to be willing to strive better, work smarter, think bigger to satisfy a clientele's longing for adoring. It is a vertical integration of knowledge, passion, perseverance put together with people of a like purpose and need. The work place prospers because of a delight to serve and be useful. It succeeds because we are drawn to adventure and wonder. The process of innovation, product development and presentation relates best to the public through a continual consistent reinstatement for making a good investment. This can be conveyed through the open source of media and publishing (online publishing) that can proclaim the worth and charm factor of one's goods and services...perhaps their problem solving capabilities...or maybe the connectivity they bring to balance our lives and increase our options. Institutional infrastructure is fascinating because it's about getting a head start on the competition and to meet it head on to reach the consumer "firstest" with the "bestest". A crisis of witness happens when ruthless or unseeming capitalization takes a player out of the game. Big business and industry is all about poetry. Poetry is the language of the heart and sensitivities. To be only head-strong and not heart-wise is a hazard, and likely doesn't yield harvest. Harvest always comes from those who help us to discover the best in life and bring us closer to those we love. Just being money hungry is inscrutable and scandalous. But making an honest profit can become a game changer for the better, if it betters people's lives. And the commercial community shines as it implements a system that secures competence and confidence.

Business is about the upkeep of people's prosperity. The joy and adventure of business is in the pursuit of victories. Victories take commitment. Victories come from honorable fortitude and good management, because without them, victories elude us. The keepers of a true course are the executives, who build confidence in those workers whose concentration is vital to creating more yield. Subversive underhanded approaches hinder progress. They turn the best assets, in a work place, into toxic assets. Distress, in the marketplace without redress, causes us to regress and digress. We don't want to create an environment of quitters. We need to out grow coercion, maligning, or belligerence as a force in the workplace. Our biggest challenge is to engage with one another on the level of honor, mutual respect and encouragement. Our piece of the pie doesn't have to come at the expense of others. Success comes from everyone getting their just desserts. The free enterprise system is designed to offer rewards to all comers on the level of innovation, quality, expertise and helpfulness. It does require attentiveness to detail. Inattentiveness to integrity comes back to bite rather than delight.

We can develop strong friendships through our career, business and occupational endeavors. Many urgencies are filled, needs addressed and problems remedied by the proper use of capitalism. Capitalism at it's best directs self interest towards the common good. Capitalism at it's worst seeks profit at all cost. Our positive experience depends upon the rightful use of capitalism as it improves our personal and communal lives. Sahome supports great honorable business practices.

Remember

Sahome wishes all of us the power of observation so that we help open the vista of vision that adaptability to the marketplace requires. Adaptability is key to security for society. We need to be humble enough to work efficiently and honorably to serve the community to bring in a well deserved paycheck.

Commerce building networks can build certainties for the overwhelmed and overburdened. A new life and sense of purpose comes when we share our efforts and intent to prosper and steady those right around us. Our sincerity, our genuine concern, our sustained interest can turn night to day in another's life. Life is better when understanding replaces misunderstanding and generosity replaces destitution of body, mind and spirit. We are better able to help by conciliation and reconciliation. We can create the impact of our benevolent choices. From better choices we help society serve all of our interests in the best way possible. With empathy, we help resolve other's problems, as we gain a greater tolerance and love for other people's point of view. As we address stress more aptly, we engender a fresh empathy and concern for those troubled or traumatized by the effects of cruelty or conflict. We can end the paralysis of inaction. Only our useful actions can increase the quality of life around us.

- Stopgap measures may only come to a stop. The message needed to be sent and relied upon is self sufficiency, critical thinking, and the skill and will that worthily fits the needs of that finer future we wish to build for everyone.
- Online communities that can bring education and strengthen knowhow to fit all civic needs and purposes can revolutionize the opportunities for the vast majority of up and coming young people to make their way in the world. California now has over 10,000 high tech companies and has room for 10,000 more. The play, passion, purpose that has built them can be doubled upon by entrepreneurs doing the brave innovation and risk taking that open the bright horizons for tomorrow's world. We will have failures, but we learn from our mistakes. However, we may learn equally well from our success. All of our life's experiences can serve bigger purposes.
- We need to defend individual prerogative to shape our world to value and validate human initiative, innovation, and dignity, so that we amplify upon everyone's native abilities to bless and benefit us all. Each person is vital to the whole. If we are going to have positive outcomes and enjoy a natural symbiosis of synchrony, then let each person be issued a challenge to find his or her own authenticity and perform at their own best rhythm. This will fit us well as we find productive uses for each one of us.
- We need to bring these returning military personnel home, after multiple tours of duty, and help them to return, from these redeployments, to be offered honorable gainful civilian employment. 18 veterans commit suicide everyday. We are on the front lines to turn the implacable into the improvable. May service be our style and our commitment, to rightfully help our service personal feel welcomed and appreciated and accepted. We are, all, responsible to overcome the power of humiliation or exhaustion by the power of inclusion that improves reintegration back into society. Those who may feel disenfranchised or alienated, because of injustice or poverty, need our compassion.

- We need to destigmatize any that may have run afoul of the law or norms of society, so that years are not wasted or spent in self incrimination or isolation. We are to be the substantive change that the community needs, as we help meet others needs. This is Sahome's hope for each one of us, to better serve the lofty aims of a healthy society.

Sahome's Pro-Business Agenda

CONSIDERATION ONE: INTEGRITY

In order to fit with Sahome's vision of a prosperous world we need to help everyone to become more productive. We need to spread work across communities by team building and responsibility sharing. The world of work is to be a great mutual alliance of contributing partners. No one, integral to the outcome of the production, to create any set of goods or services, is to be left out of the loop of input. A mutual alliance encourages mutual reliance and compliance to highest ethical and behavioral standards of responsible helpful conduct. Management is always managing human capital and human energy. The leadership in the workforce focuses best on an increased awareness of skill, ability, and cooperation that involves all participants most productively. In everyday life, laudatory outcomes are derived from business practice that build upon individual strengths to better the group, the clientele and the community at large.

Because we live in an interconnected world; a global competitive marketplace rewards those high achievers who excel at quality and service, expedited with efficiency and competence.

By advertising we raise awareness of the best attributes of any business. We advertise, to the buying public, attributes that fit a holistic approach to prosperity and usability. When we seek an increase in the quality of living for each person, we signal a genuine willingness to be of service by our interest in their welfare. In the realm of the real world of commerce, integrity matters. Integrity shows up in the parcels, packages, and delivered products, goods and services that represent stages through which they have passed, to reach their best final design and excellence of production. The creative process that has harnessed human skill, integrity, and innovation has made it all possible. Each preparation takes explanation. Curiosity and steadiness of readiness, pave the way. Creative entrepreneurs multiply upon readiness, through research and development, to turn ideas into substance, to form what fits the needs of the market place. Short run delicacies may come first, but volume rules. Prototypes may go through many phases of refinement but the market awaits a refined final product. We're all in developmental stages personally, corporately and collectively. The immediacy of others needs and our ability to respond positively to them creates markets. By following these incentives, that the market teaches, we leverage our contributions to the greater benefit of all, going forward. Integrity equates to equitableness in how we relate to others, to create prosperity. Everyone is to be commended for their integrity!

CONSIDERATION TWO: INITIATIVE

Prosperous societies, and countries, allow its peoples to leverage resources and capital to acquire and generate assets. Wise stewards of market readiness, can shape a new set of future realities. Initiative is the vanguard of leadership. We want to improve techniques that make human advancement possible and that can transform subservient existence and subsistence away from poverty and privation towards prosperity and a promising future.

Only heading into the stiff breeze of uncertainty can one find that preverbal pot of gold at the end of the rainbow of best intent. Risk is minimized and rewards maximized when our beginning justifies the end result. To create the “why” you do your business connects, explains, and rightly empowers all succeeding actions and outcomes. The customer’s satisfaction should be our overriding objective. That is made easier for people to attain, grasp and follow through on what is ‘pleasing the customer’: “What can we do to help you?” This makes tackling unpleasant tasks easier and of necessity. Facing and tackling unpleasant tasks, first thing, helps us face and resolve all that follows on. Helpful partnering lifts us through much uncertainty and inevitable roadblocks that can occur to trip us up. When we are stumped, tired, weak and weary, the reassurance of another, can enhance our productivity, buoys us up and spirits us forward. The impact we can make, over a lifetime, begins modestly but from small things great things come to pass. Perceptions once held may need to give way to new realities. Open hearts and open minds belong to the future. Our future starts yesterday and proceeds day by day. History is made on a daily basis. Let’s make great history together. Let’s succeed. Let’s take the initiative to prosper!

We all have been the brunt of misperceptions and misinformation or disinformation. We all need to realize that the essence of a healthy market economy and society is based on the reliability of truth in lending, integrity in transactions, and conviction about the fairness and efficacy of the free enterprise system. What there from proceeds is worth the wait and the weight of our attention. Fortune favors the bold. Boldness comes from the initiative taken around right, honest, transparent, integritable practices and principles.

CONSIDERATION THREE: INTEREST

Overcoming destitution, privation, and poverty of personhood or opportunity rests upon our willingness for the reconstruction, rest and rebuilding of our lives. Because safety is, as safety does, let us lean forward not backwards into how we safeguard one another. Self defacing by any means is self defeating and self depleting. We need to honor one another with distinction not desecration, with leniency and vindication not incrimination. We need to strengthen one another with kindness, which provides the clear sightedness to make measured decisions, based on good judgment. That is this generation's job, to be in tune with and reciprocate with goodness, honesty, and brotherly kindness so that we compliment everyone with kindness and resonate goodwill in our actions.

Yes, in the gift of freedom is randomness...however engagement and mobilation take place on the level of what is in the best public interest. That has to be determined and be demonstrated by a willing attention to correct and proven principles that can support efficacy of procedures.

Our interest should be everyone's best interest. Interest is the yield from investment. Our time and money well invested will pay dividends we can rely upon. The pleasure of returns is the wisdom of seed capitol put to work. The asset class makes money even when they sleep because their investments are at work for them. We want everyone to join the asset class by making keen long term investments. Hand-to-mouth and living paycheck to paycheck is only short term. Let us think and save up to invest long term. Let the principle of interest (compound interest) work for us.

CONSIDERATION FOUR: INGENUITY

We need to invent our way out of our problems. That may mean that we filter out the fear of failure or the embarrassment of faltering. We need to turn woe and foe into lessons won and good deeds done. With a willingness to grow, we can turn disabilities into increased abilities, hardships and hazards into better alternative narratives. We can grow beyond our deficits and grow into new prerequisites. If we keep track of our actions, moment by moment, we can appreciate how our positive attitude is affecting our way. A willingness to improve is all we can ask of ourselves when we find ourselves in a bind. As we try to make our actions consistent with our notion of good character and try to make good choices, we find that being consistent and persistent alleviates uncertainty. Ingenuity does not equivocate to uncertainty. It is very healthy, personally and collectively, to see the fruits of our labors, help us to build our resilient reassurance. Projects are a process mounted on the wings of self belief and belief in others. This shared delight in one another's abilities, contributions, and endeavors, by honoring their successes, projects a positive image that all can praise and prize. We can be restored, rescued, redeemed, refined, renewed and reconciled by this rejoicing in one another's benevolent good fortune and thereby make it replete for us all to be apart of. This projects a positive image for joy and light to reflect hope and confidence to us all. It buoys us all up, by seeing others prosper and able to realize positive outcomes and results from their labors and efforts. This becomes a prerequisite to attain the grandeur of commonality that is at the bedrock of a thriving society: the worth and worthy devotion of the many benefitting the many.

*Let us each give an hour to the givers...
joining hearts and hands!*

Where Prosperity Comes From:

Where is our wealth creation coming from? The world's biggest problems are the world's biggest market opportunities. The basics of life come to us in a collaborative fashion. We are all responsible to nurture the needs and give sustenance to one another. The genius of this world is the interconnection, that it relies upon, to sustain us all. Reconciliation is the impetus that cooperation requires to seize the greater victory so that we all survive and thrive. Getting progress moving requires inculcating the norms of good conduct. Those virtues of disposition, resourcefulness and enterprise give the clarity of vision needed to realize our anticipation and aspiration. With education we increase our liberty. We surpass oppression by the freedom we exchange to rise above assault. With the liberty to override corruption, and with mutual mercy and forbearance we root out contempt, prejudice and dismiss tyranny from our lives. By inaugurating small teams in business, politics and corporate life, that reflect these ethics, we build the greater community. We are the engines of progress that results in the goodness of prosperity. We act as a lever, a slingshot to enhance sensitivity to that which commends prosperity to build a cohesive society. Virtue counteracts anything that offends the sensitivities or that demeans and diminishes human productivity. All the basics for the good life come from developing and harmonizing human capacity, with the support systems needed to enshrine it and protect it, so that it can become the engine of progress. Tools needed to increase it, can be developed to form the means and methods. To open the way to market opportunities, is by making goods and services affordable, accessible and available. When principles of mutual benefit are honored, our moral perspective anchors the integrity of human commerce. Thereby we increase the fast, convenient delivery, and increased selection, of goods and services. We reign in hedge funds, derivatives and credit default swaps from instantaneous plundering. Manipulating some to stunt and spurn others in a zero sum game of 'gotcha,' got you back. Let us strengthen the spirit of goodness, so hooligan behavior, which threatens the security and prosperity of society doesn't get all the news coverage so that we lackadaisically drop our guard or lesson our vigilance. Skirmishes, cruelty, hostility in the bright light of public exposure, looks so futile and infantile for the blight that it is and causes in the public domain. We need to change "If it bleeds it leads" to "Our creeds serve human needs with good deeds!" Mutual mercy, mutual honor, mutual love should be the concern that permeates all of society. This will go along way to solve our emotional, mental and spiritual ills. The 40 million Americans that suffer anxiety disorders, often show symptoms of vast numbers of people seeking something durable. This is durable. Guidance, support and commitment are essential to enthrone the work ethic and the discipline needed to optimize the marketplace, the school room, the home and family, as well as the church, mosque, or synagogue so that we secure our life and liberty. We need to build the welfare of the individual which builds contentment in society. We can, too easily, harbor grudges when our right to self determination and individual dignity is transgressed, degraded or disregarded. Let us be peacemakers and prosperity builders!

We all want to adapt to and adopt the principles for wealth creation. Inventing jobs and developing the skills to fill them change the world by creating self sufficiency. Economics only hold value if they develop value. Threatening the economic soundness of society by exploitation creates superficial incentives and greed that extinguishes the tenderness that holds the longevity of society together. Business is not to be oblivious to regret. Adaptability, based upon transparency, is the antidote to miscalculation.

The obligation of the financial order, throughout the world, is to combat deception, using a culture of integrity, centered upon the wellbeing of the family of man. Family is what you have at the end of the day. Thinking results, considering consequences from our actions, and by analyzing repercussions of our decisions will enhance best outcomes for everyone. The home is where this fondness for one another's wellbeing is engendered. Fondness for dear ones enshrines the attention to goodness necessary to build enduring progress. Markets allocate resources but we put them to best use, on an individual, community and family basis. This is where prosperity embraces all of us.

This world was meant for progress. It is designed to reveal to us both our strengths and our weaknesses. We all have a right to make complaints and to be the brunt of many forms of criticism. The human terrain is the decisive terrain that creates the many different ways we explore and explain the world and its wonders. Wisdom, compassion and competence arise from the beautiful retention of forgiveness, forbearance, long suffering and enduring life's ups and downs with gracious good will and kindheartedness. Hostility causes people to revert inside and to take others people's disgust or disfavor out on themselves in often harmful self destruction, self mutilation, or vitriolic acting out, and lashing out against others. Tranquility most often lies in understatement, rather than overstatement. We each have a burden that is to be born. The lightest burden is the burden of giving. When we give others the benefit of the doubt, the benefit of our tolerance, the benefit of our patience, we give people the right and honor to change for the better and to be better themselves at less expense to the rest of us. The seven greatest sins: Anger, lust, pride, sloth, envy, gluttony and greed, plummet us towards sadness and are mutually self menacing, which takes its toll on our joy, comfort, strength and peace. They deny ourselves the majesty of serenity which inattention to virtue and moderation inflicts upon us. We are masters of our skill and our training by manifesting itself in our actions and good deeds. Human virtue is the bedrock of prosperity. Creating greater proficiency enhances prosperity for all.

Productivity saves lives. We need to turn guns to butter. Belligerence and privation wastes us. The learning curve is the self correcting course that helps us compete well in society. Dedication, determination and discipline, to become competent, transform a debt based economy into one that modulates risk, by asserting our sure footedness, and builds ampleness.

Sahome wishes that sure footedness of virtue, skill, and productivity to all of us, for the sake of our greater prosperity together.

When we get off of a war footing and foster goodwill, we can put all of those resources to work in building a strong resilient economy, educational system and upgraded renewed infrastructure which will create and develop the Soundest Economy!

Sahome on the Cost of Living

I. The Attitude of Gratitude

What matters most is the gratitude we all must impart to one another for the excellence in one another's character and actions. Selfishness hinders and dwarfs us. To feel the gratitude that sanctity brings us, heals our heart and expands our generosity of disposition. Gratitude builds, emphasizes and encourages efficiency. Thereby, the cognitive tie ups, that we make with others, becomes the circuitry that brain power can use to lift us up, to leverage ideas into the realm of exponential growth. When we raise our unanimity by our mutuality our expression is multiplied co-efficiently. Team based science is making a miraculous world possible for all of us. We are at our best when we open the way as partners.

We are the fore runners of chance and change. Chance and change favors the connected minds in mutual motivation, collaboration and appreciation. By the feedback that emphasizes hunches, intuition and skill-cultivation, we connect ideas, as the building blocks of invention and inspiration. No idea comes into this world fully realized. Using the wellspring of gratitude we sure up the delights that come with teamwork collaborating to make a sumptuous society possible. There is, most usually, a reluctance to overpay for anything we deem to be excessive or overpriced. But what us never overpriced is the need for praise and appreciation. One of the costs of living is being rightfully, soulfully grateful. Being grateful is an experiment we can all be consistent at inventing.

II. Earn Efficacy

We are, all, surmounting a lesser self to grow into a greater self, a more complete self. How do we do that? Here are ten counterpoints that lead to that contrition, that connection, that correction that makes the cost of living less costly:

1. Stand strong, by being aware of others and being appreciative of, and generously willing share our blessings, treasure, and gifts with one another.
2. Realize the Grace of Providence and turn that to helpfulness that recognizes the good in one another.
3. Count the cost of downsides and turn them into upsides by our proper actions.
4. Keep our eyes on the prize of self improvement by moving straight ahead in a positive direction.
5. Build trust by being trustworthy. Extend trust by showing trust in others.
6. Stay faithful. Stay focused on best outcomes.
7. Continue to make amends so we create positive trends. Right wrongs.
8. Living positive intentions lead to redemption. Live a life of rebalancing and self refining.
9. Be security sensitive. Safeguard the welfare of others.
10. Promote patience. We are all coming from behind. Be forbearing and caring.

Remember: Each one of us has our load to bear. No one is exempt from the refining power of prerogative and self determination.

III. Civic Spirit

The high cost of living is reduced when better rules produce better outcomes; when people are results oriented and not just takers but givers. Citizen funding, lent in good faith, spurs growth to market makers and spreads mutual prosperity. You can get a great concentration of wealth or a great democracy but, as it has been said, you can't have both. Extortion, by domineering another for a cut of the action, without recourse, is not the American way. Joint problem solving, and spreading the wealth in a way that pays back and pays attention to the needs of real people, is the true application of justice. Great dividends come with building civic pride. Our strong civic presence comes from being present: picking up litter, cleaning the parks and public spaces, creating venues and amenities that compliment better living and community spirit. This reflects in well cared for neighborhoods and public spaces. Availability of libraries, public transportation, community centers and recreation facilities build high expectations for better citizenship. We constantly need to affirm one another through community support. Locally, nationally and internationally, we prosper when our solid foundation is built upon the basis of peace and goodwill as a global community. We thereby can grow beyond our differences. By sharing resources of human ingenuity, that highlight the best individualism, we find that the hope of the world will lie in valuing one another's contribution. By combining resources we increase everyone's significance so that we benefit from everyone's self estimation and self determination.

This is the cost, well worth paying, for living together.

IV. Fiscal Prudence and Viability

The logic in the human condition is to watch out for one another. In order to do this we need to watch our own footing. Our brain strength will depend upon good conditioning with healthy nourishment from healthy foods and healthy thoughts. We want a flower garden up in our brains and not a weed patch. We need to think thoughts which inspire and ennoble us. Any form of entertainment that debases the human condition and our frame of mind should be avoided. Garbage in, garbage out, as they say. Too much hype and eroticism, too much violence and media blitz, carnage, and vicious stimulation can leave us morally and physically dispassionate, despairing, or disengaged putting us into the abnormal with an alienation from goodness. We don't want a catatonic stasis, or stalemate, shrillness of temperament, or to be in a stupor of complacency. We don't want to be disfigured by the estrangement of self abuse or carnal pleasure run amuck. We can become disoriented thereby. We are not meant to be cast off or castaways from the sure footedness from the freshness and virtue of a sound mind and body. Duplicity harms us. Authenticity enhances us. We, all, need to constantly shape up. Gratitude and honor lead to the rectitude of thrift and prudence.

What is needed? Our good sense is needed. We don't want good sense to be undone by stubbornness, obstinancy, perversion, or by misinterpreting what is honorable, proper, natural and true.

We earn precious sanity as we persevere and persist to steadily follow a course of grace and goodness. We don't want to afflict, annoy, harass, oppress, torment or bring worry or regret upon any other person or persons. Positive outcomes depend upon pursuing the positive. The positive undergirds pluralism and maintains civility, cordiality and cooperation. The positive confirms compassion. We may conceal our guns but we cannot conceal our contempt. We need to foster mindsets of peace and compatibility, rather than the mindset that says danger lurks everywhere. We need behavior modification that instills attention and appreciation for the support of one another.

The hurdle we face is to avoid loss. We all have to go on beyond our mistakes and our loss. We need to build our own support group on the highest level of moral goodness that meets our needs for moral, spiritual, physical and emotional nurture, so that if and when loss comes, be it financial reverses, health setbacks, death or injury, we have someone to sure us up with a fall back position. We all need one another's support. As we give attention to supporting others in a positive way, we give attention to the common good. We need to support ourselves in the most self reassuring way. As we anchor our wage earning skills; create a cushion of savings with good resource management; and honor accountability to debt and overhead expenses; we can live up to our own challenges.

A lot of what life is about is about upkeep. We can, all, be better freelancers when it comes to prevention. Better to be mindful of outcomes so hot heads or hot tempers don't prevail. We, all, wish we could take back moments of indiscretion when we fouled up or have been fooled. We are better off, off times, to rely upon experts when we get ourselves stuck or in a jam. As the old adage reminds us, that 'a stitch in time saves nine.' Safety takes planning, foresight, looking before we leap, preconditioning, and preparation for readiness on our part. We often are only as good as our plan is workable and we work it.

Our plan is quality assurance!

Quality sustains us. We can't make a sound future out of poor quality control. We manage by maintenance. We are to manage our affairs with integrity and alertness. We lose people to predicaments when they live without a plan. Thank goodness, most people are observant, in their own way, of good conduct. Worthy ways makes the way forward better for all of us, at lesser cost to us all. Our good conduct changes emptiness to fullness. This takes initiative on our part each and everyday. We need to become self starters. We need the discipline and sheer determination to exercise strategies that build our strengths. Then we can meet struggles with steadiness and aptitude. Then difficulties don't mount up. My good is to become your good.

Our honor is determined by how well we help others live honorably, to live at their best. No one is second rate when we befriend people that way.

Living Sahome makes us all friends.

No one is a stranger in Sahome.

Building a Better World as a Trading Center

In order to attune ourself to the emporium of world commerce we've got to have something in the way of goods or services that we can offer. Best if we can create a demand for it or fit to a demand. For example: Concrete is in demand. Concrete is used more than any other man made item on earth. Another item, that is very new, is called Infinity Banking. It applies to insurance that becomes self funding at five years and can keep expanding as one wishes there after. Mesh networking not only works for making autonomous vehicles, but also can be helpful in full spectrum applications in other fields too. We need the development of intuitive devices that enhance our privacy and confidentiality. The internet and metro-media unleashes the power of one to multiply an impact exponentially nearly worldwide in a matter of moments. People are delving into the creative strengths of the universe in such new, seemingly magical, endeavors as synthetic biology. Great horizons await the human family to realize so many new imaginative fronts that will reinvent the division of labor and put labor to new uses. Internationalization will embrace exporting and importing goods and services, and talent and new ideas across the planet. Open trade will triumph over opposing viewpoints that keep the harrang of conflict brewing. As we give voice to the entrepreneurial innovative work around the globe we take darkness away from humanity by ever-increasing wealth to produce output, and out-sourcing to better outcomes, that bring the light of progress and plenty to the human condition.

Ending Corruption

The genius of nature is that it is always purging its insufficiencies. We are part of that grand scheme of things. We need to absolve and resolve all blatant abuse, misuse, hazard and blight that corrupt the human family. Corruption, bribery, chicanery and tyranny belittle the humanity we share. We need to change it. How we handle change is critical to our mental health. Rapid change, in any circumstance, will be unsettling even discomfoting, but there is the seed in every setback and every reverse of a future forth-coming greater victory. We are not to be victimized, but made valiant through our difficulties, and the vile wrongs that beset us.

Human development is not only empirical but also spiritual.

We are cyclical learners. We no sooner make a break through, have an insight, gain some clarity, achieve some footing or self resolution, but then the learning curve comes again to test us and try us so that what we have learned and achieved is reassured and anchored securely in us. We may think, at the very brink of receiving a breakthrough, that it's going to be straight up from now on, but it almost never is. We no sooner gain or achieve some knowledge or ability but it is tested, and we go around the learning curve again, through which we have it reconfirmed, reasserted, reevaluated, and improvement reconciled to us. It may seem tedious, but when we arrive back on top of our process, we have become it. It is imbued into us. We have inculcated it. We have grown as it is instilled and infused into us. It surely is, as has been written, that after the trial of our faith, comes the confirmation of our faith. We learn cyclically. The best we can hope for are ascending cycles of growth and development, leading to personal wisdom and peace. This is the process we pursue to overcome any corruption of the soul. When abuse raises its ugly head, be it self abuse, sexual abuse, societal abuse, elder abuse, spouse or child abuse, substance abuse, we are each responsible for our own conduct and our decisions so that our process reflects well on ourselves and others. The adages are:

*Take no abuse, give no abuse.
Inflict not, infringe not.
Take no offense, give no offense.
Repair impairment with loving care.
Turn corruption and hurtful disruption
Into virtuous reinvention and prevention.*

We cannot, necessarily control the thoughts that come into our minds. We have been through D, E and F, and if is spawning X, Y and Z. We have seen R, S, and T and it is churning up G, H and I. We can't necessarily control the thoughts that come into our minds, but we can control what we do with those thoughts. Therein lie our agency and our integrity. We can control the direction we allow our thoughts to take us. We can be self scripting, self-discretionary, self determining, and self directing after all. We are free moral agents and we can determine our course and the mindset we will entertain and harbor. We are in control. We want to create a flower garden in our head and mind and not a weed patch. That's always up to us.

As long as we make right choices, we progress. As long as we invest in best outcomes, we abound. As long as we build and nurture helpful, beautiful relationships, agitation will be turned into mutual approbation. As long as we exercise due discretion and discipline, we survive and derive pleasure from life's challenges. As long as our decisions favor sufficiency not deficiency, helpfulness not unhelpfulness or helplessness, we thrive. As long as we keep all of our options for positive growth open, we can be a part of this world's leadership of conscience. As long as we repent, do our apologies, ask for forgiveness, do our self betterment, we can reorder and recover. Penitence is the path to self acceptance. As long as we amend, we transcend dissipation and guilt. As long as we choose to be constructive and productive, we can flourish and cherish life. Our life will be well expressed through helping everyone be blessed. As long as we gain from pain and not turn it into disdain, we go from self limiting to self sustaining. As long as we look to our higher power and to convening grace, we give ourselves breathing space. If we fly off the handle, let rage and anger consume us, sanction radical ruin and ill treatment, we lose face and debase and deface the worthy willingness of others to be of assistance to help us. Any fraud or stealing creates distortion. As long as we are willing to give credit where credit is due, we can turn the grand collective into a grand companionship. We change self-debasing, into life-embracing when our behavior reflects mutual honor and dignity. As long as we have a victory over vice, corruption and depravity won't engulf us. With self regulating discipline and noble habits and motives we can enjoy a healthy self image, and a prospering healthy society that compliments the best in all of us.

Because suffering validates ourselves to ourselves, through out our lives; let us let sickness, illness, injury, setbacks, hardships and reverses, teach us what is real, right and true about ourselves. Therewith we learn the grace heaven offers us, to better help one another. We learn, too, the help of second chances and the help of sustainable resources to uphold us and teach us. All of our lives include continual repair. We learn what we live. Remember that there is the seed in every set back and every reverse of a future, forth coming greater victory. We can all become a part of the grand emancipation from corruption. That is Sahome's wish for all of us.

To create a world based on Honor, we need some BIG ideas to overcome corruption. Here are some Big Ideas to overcome corruption:

1. Because we are always getting back to what we can't do emotionally, let us defer to right thinking and right choices. As long as we make right choices, we progress. Progress provides hope and opens the bright side of our nature to our finest future!
2. Let us give people the right of way to correct their behavior and to live up to their ideals. Let us be a proper facilitator, not a debilitator!
3. Let us improve our conduct so guilt or shame doesn't govern our lives!
4. Let us correct violence, intransigence, and negligence by our work and spiritual ethic.
5. Let is not continue involving precious lives in misbegotten wars, or the slaughter of lives.
6. Let us not weaponize the world to the exclusion of dialogue, peace making, diplomacy and good will, so we better address vicious hostility, carnage, tyranny, and brutality, so misguided policy doesn't increase mayhem. May we replace carnage and bedlam with sanctity of heart and sanctity for life. Let us resort to strategic diplomacy.
7. Let us nor counter assaults with further faults. We cannot kill or annihilate ourselves out of abusive threats, waywardness, or attack. Problems persist when we resist addressing their root cause with civility and integrity.
8. Let us turn mutually assured destruction into mutually assured cooperative usefulness for everyone's benefit. Let us turn good breeding into heeding the redemptive path and process. The essence of progress in the universe is by redemption.
9. Let us turn greed into generosity, anger into compassion, ignorance into wisdom.
10. Let us rejoice in all the goodness and beauty throughout the world.

May every birthday be special and may the years ahead be filled with happy surprises!

Critical Note

Hate divides, love multiplies on the balance sheet of life. Dissention creates reticence, enmity and vengeance, which can oppress us all. Infractions leads to altercations and a militaristic caustic culture spreading brutality and contempt that narrows reason. War becomes a failure of reason. War is deceit because it prays upon the weaknesses of others. War puts bleakness into the eyes of the sorrowing and displaced. Helping refugees, who have been driven and shamed, can become our chore to surrender to. Adding obscenities to obscenities doesn't balance out. Let us not prostitute or procrastinate our will for peace. As we build upon and embellish other's rights and wellbeing, we find our usefulness, freshness, and vitality to be increased. As we live ampleness together, we build, in our pathway, assets of trust to treasure. We overcome rivalries with combined victories. We strengthen community, by the spirit of friendship we live with. Goodness emancipates the human spirit to do problem solving. The cost of ignorance, moral ignorance, is too high. In spite of our burdens, we have great assets in our mind and heart to further prosperity all around us. It is Sahome's wish that we realize the fullness of love in our hearts, to build the safety and dignity of the human family, so we, all, enjoy greater prosperity.

What can our future become?

Our future will involve learning to advance.

We need to learn to earn . . . not to restrict the disabled, the immigrant, the disenfranchised from an opportunity to earn their keep. We live in a content driven time in which technology advances the global economy. The era of innovation has dazzled us with possibilities to spread knowledge. We can now, more than ever, draw upon physical and mental resources worldwide. Our human reach has become quixotic with positive potential to improve the human condition. That is the call upon our life. That is the mission we give to one another. Now is our time. This is the moment to rise above pernicious pride and limited parochial interest to view humanity and its promise for development in an expansive way. Knowledge translated into better know how is becoming ubiquitous in our age. As we ride this advancing current forward, a dynamic environment of idea mining and career development will take 'open source' to new heights, innovating on everyday needs in marvelous ways. Yes, procedural changes and new means of energy transfer will be required. Be nimble. New technology will speed up the new normal.

Advancements in sociology, biology, anthropology, and technology are beckoning the human family forward. We were meant to be forward thinkers! The outpouring of effort to build the human capitol of tomorrow depends upon the skill development, good spirited innovation and tempered management of today. We will become the product of our actions. Our alignment to nature and natural forces, our analysis of problems and articulating appropriate treatments and solutions, our anticipating, before hand, points of dissention or disagreement and building agreement, our coping generously with need and austerity all depends upon us serving the best prospects of automation, honorable alliances, altruism and the high adventure of peace making.

If from travail, we have learned to prevail, we have learned a lot in this world!

If we fail to trail blaze forward from our infirmities, we assail our birthright for self invention. We were meant to rise beyond our frailties. Some of our greatest achievements are made as we try to surmount a weakness. Therewith, we gain greater clarity from adversity. The lessons of life are learned against resistance. We need to take life up on the premise that it is built upon. This world was designed to show us our weaknesses and it is not a pretty picture. We were meant to live with one another, not run off to far Alaska and live in the outback and hide out from humanity. No, we were meant to live with our kindred kind for mutual support and understanding; because living with one another our glaring deficits in behavior, improper attitudes, and botched notions become glaringly apparent. If we are obnoxious, hurtful, conniving, it's going to show up with one another. If we are dishonest, ruthless, vindictive, it's going to show up with one another. If we are lazy, inconsiderate impatient, it's going to show up with one another. If we are selfish and self centered, overreaching and deceitful, it's going to show up with one another. If we are oppressive, onerous, and hostile, it's going to show up with one another. It is then that we will know what we've got to conquer and out grow. It is tough sledding but that is the human condition and it belongs to all of us.

Any look back is instructive. We are to learn from the past. But we can only survive a look back if we better our frailties, our hesitancy of nature, or the pathetic way we thought and acted.

If we treat others with fresh and limitless kindness, that a well spent life offers us, we, all, can ascend based upon upright good behavior, and life will be kind and gentle to us.

Heaven and Earth are being fashioned after a Divine Order. We've got to get on the same page together. We can only reach our strategic future if we are unified. Our collective future will depend upon how well we safeguard the reservoirs of human knowledge and grace within each life. May our united effort together be steady, staunch, sound and strong, firm in principle, and be fully regarding of one another's rights and privileges. Society was meant to be rejuvenating and replenishing.

Our behavior is most pleasing when we want to please. We can dilute the detestable as we supplant commotion and distortion with the rule of law and order. We want to make orderly conduct very pleasing by being pleasing.

Law is thrift. Thrift is above board when it is based on the 10 Tenets in Sahome, our noble faith paths and in our lofty values of truth, equality and goodwill.

Sahome wishes everyone the grandeur of good will and prosperity.

The Victory

There is no knowledge gained without alertness, a readiness and receptiveness to learn, and a willingness to transpose suffering and sacrifice into wisdom and knowhow. “There is nothing more convincing than suffering.” We need to direct input towards the best output. There is the seed in every set back and every reverse of a future, forthcoming greater victory. As one great observer, is said to have explained, “Only the soul who knows the mighty grief can fathom the mighty rapture.” We need to be on the upgrade. That incline may be steep, and may require hours of preparation for our assault on the summit of our hopes and dreams. It may require times of reevaluation, reassurance, reinvention, and much collaboration with fellow strivers. It will surely require the best use of resources, research and reference points to mastermind best results. Self management and self analysis are key components to our future success. May we embody them with our faith, ingenuity, and virtue...

So we can claim the victory over vice and corruption.

So we can claim the victory of mind over matter.

So we can claim the victory of farsightedness over shortsightedness.

So we can claim the victory from heightening the hopes of all humanity, for peace, prosperity and understanding.

So we can claim the victory that instills dignity for originality, diversity, creativity and sensitivity.

So we can claim the victory over pollution and waste.

So we can claim the victory by showing respect for modesty, for temperance, and for incremental head way.

So we can claim the victory that reflects a renewal of balance, harmony, goodwill, and wisdom. May we triumph, as a human family, as we share together the victory that life offers us.

Victory is Sahome’s wish to each and all!
